Dear Ms. Nixon –

I would like to testify at tomorrow's public hearing on the petition by Verizon New England requesting that the Cable Division adopt certain rules relative to the licensing process for competitive cable franchises and relative to the appeals process.

The Department of Telecommunications and Energy requested that all parties wishing to testify notify the Cable Division of their intent to participate by August 10, 2006. I missed that deadline. Is it too late to notify you at this time of my interest in testifying? If so, will there be an opportunity for those who show up tomorrow without notification to make comments at the end of the prepared list?

Thank you for your help on this.

Sincerely -
